Oakland Recognized As A Top Food City – On Wednesday, March 30, the San Francisco Chronicle ran an article proclaiming “Oakland is a major culinary capital.” The article, entitled “Oakland ranks as foodie heaven: nation’s best city for coffee, food trucks, breakfast and more,” references a recent survey by Estatly that ranked Oakland tops in four categories: for breakfast, for coffee, for food trucks and for Chinese food. To view the article, please visit <http://bit.ly/1q6UjC7>. To view information from Estatly’s research, please visit <http://www.estately.com/america-food-map>. Other recent accolades bestowed on Oakland include being named the 5th Best City for Basketball Fans by WalletHub, No. 13 among America's Fastest-Growing Cities for 2016 by Forbes and Among the 52 Places to Go in 2016 by the New York Times. Safe Oakland Speakers Series Presents Racial Profiling Expert & Panel – On Monday, April 4, from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m., Mayor Libby Schaaf invites you to attend a presentation on implicit biases and racial profiling by MacArthur Genius Award Winner Dr. Jennifer Eberhardt of Stanford University. The event will be held at McClymonds High School, 2607 Myrtle Street, in West Oakland. Dr. Eberhardt’s presentation will be followed by a panel discussion including Racial Justice Advocate Pastor Ben McBride and Oakland Police Capt. LeRonne Armstrong to answer as many questions from the audience as time will permit. Dr. Eberhardt is widely recognized as the nation’s leading expert on racial profiling and implicit bias in policing. On April 4, learn about her ground-breaking work with the Oakland Police Department, including a major study to be released in May. Dr. Eberhardt is a social psychologist who earned the MacArthur Genius Award with her ground-breaking findings about the consequences of the psychological association between race and crime. Through collaborations and varied methods – from laboratory studies to novel field experiments – Eberhardt has revealed the startling, and often dispiriting, extent to which racial imagery and judgments suffuse our culture and society, and in particular shape actions and outcomes within the domain of criminal justice. For more information, please contact Sun Kwong Sze, Special Projects Coordinator in the Mayor’s Office, at MSze@oaklandnet.com.

Earthquake Upgrade Construction To Begin On BART Elevated Structures – In March, as part of their system-wide Earthquake Safety Program, strengthening work began on BART's elevated structures in East Oakland, spanning from 18th Avenue to 75th Avenue. For safety reasons, installation of temporary k-rail and safety shields for BART track ways may be performed at night. This work will happen intermittently throughout the duration of construction. If lighting is required at night, special care will be taken to ensure that lights are directed at the work areas and away from residences. During the project, the public can expect temporary shifting of traffic lanes, and temporary sidewalk and lane closures, as well as temporary reduction of available street parking. The public can also expect the relocation of traffic signals, lighting and pedestrian signage. BART will attempt to minimize construction-related noise, dust and inconvenience. Please watch for signs with safety information and other notices. To learn more about BART's Earthquake Safety Program, please visit www.bart.gov/earthquakesafety. Kiva Oakland Launch – On Wednesday, March 16, Bay Area-based Kiva.org – best known for crowdfunding loans for 1.7 million entrepreneurs globally – launched Kiva Oakland. Under the leadership of Mayor Libby Schaaf, the City of Oakland is partnering with Kiva to bring 0% interest crowd-funded loans to hundreds of Oakland small business owners who are socially impactful and financially excluded from mainstream lending options. Those interested in helping small businesses thrive in Oakland can visit www.Kiva.org/Oakland to browse through small business owner's profiles and choose who they want to lend to. Individual loans of $25 or more are collected until the borrower's full loan request is "crowdfunded." Beginning March 16, the City of Oakland, OBDC Small Business Finance, Capital One and the Miller Family Foundation will match every dollar that individuals lend to an Oakland borrower, up to $225,000. As the entrepreneur repays, lenders can relend that same money to another person at Kiva Oakland or withdraw their money and put it back in their pocket. With an initial $500,000 investment from The San Francisco Foundation and $500,000 from Google.org, Kiva Oakland is able to become a primary capital source for financially excluded small businesses. Increasing access to capital for these small businesses is key to expanding economic development and job creation in Oakland. According to the City of Oakland's Economic & Workforce Development Department, which operates the Business Assistance Center, 90% of Oakland businesses employ 20 or fewer employees. Kiva's loans, which average $5,000 and are available up to $10,000, are designed to reach small business owners locked out of traditional lending or who are engaged in strengthening their communities. Loans are offered at 0% interest and no fees, minimum credit score, years of operation or collateral. Crowdfunding fills a critical lending gap faced by entrepreneurs whose businesses are too young, too small or too innovative to receive traditional small business loans. Traditional lenders reject 80% of small business loan applications and Hispanics and African American entrepreneurs are denied small business loans up to three times more often than their Caucasian counterparts. Through Kiva, a borrower's credit-worthiness is based on their ability to recruit friends and family to fund a small portion of their loan, demonstrating that they've earned trust among the people that know them best. Kiva Oakland is a partnership between the City of Oakland and nearly three dozen nonprofits throughout the city. For more information on lending or borrowing through Kiva Oakland, please visit www.kiva.org/oakland.

Public Input Sought On Local Hazard Prioritization – In April, the City of Oakland will host two additional community meeting where Oakland residents and business owners are invited to share their priorities on reducing the effects of natural hazards and risks. Every five years, FEMA requires local governments to update their Local Hazard Mitigation Plan (LHMP). The City of Oakland is currently updating its LHMP for the years 2016-2021. The LHMP will identify projects that could potentially reduce risks in the community from natural hazards and is designed to reduce the loss of life and property. To be most effective, a Hazard Mitigation Plan is prepared before a disaster occurs by identifying the hazards a community faces, assessing vulnerabilities to the hazards and identifying specific actions that can be taken to reduce the risk. The two additional meetings are:

- Monday, April 18, 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., Faith Presbyterian Church, 430 49th Street
- Monday, April 25, 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., West Oakland Senior Center, 1724 Adeline Street

For those unable to attend a community meeting, feedback may be provided by:

- Taking the online survey at <http://speakupoakland.org/surveys>
- Emailing your comments to dreiff@oaklandnet.com
- Attending one of the public hearings at the Oakland Planning Commission and Oakland City Council

The 2016-2021 LHMP will describe the natural hazards and risks, identify the top priorities for addressing each hazard and detail the work being done now and work expected to be done over the next five years. Once the plan is adopted by the Oakland City Council, the City of Oakland can prioritize projects and continue to be eligible to obtain FEMA pre- and post-disaster grants. The plan will also make Oakland a more disaster-resistant and resilient community. To learn more about the City's Local Hazard Mitigation Plan program as well as details on future meetings, please visit www.oaklandnet.com/lhmp.

This event provides an opportunity to have round table discussions on ways to identify, quantify and investigate profiling that we can then take back to our respective communities and agencies. Guest presenters will include:

- Deputy Chief of Police Danielle Outlaw, Bureau of Services, Oakland Police Department
- Dr. Jack Glaser, Associate Professor, Associate Dean, Goldman School of Public Policy, University of California, Berkeley

AAMLO's Heroines Of The Civil Rights Movement Exhibit – Through Saturday, July 16, the African American Museum and Library at Oakland (AAMLO) is hosting a major exhibit, Heroines of the Civil Rights Movement, presenting history and textile designs that honor women whose actions were instrumental in the success of the Civil Rights Movement. The exhibit features the creative "Swing Coat" designs of Ms. Patricia Montgomery, master quilter. Photographs as well as audio and video clips are also featured. AAMLO's Chief Curator Rick Moss created an environment that compliments each swing coat and is conducive to placing the actions of these women in the historical context of this great movement. Especially for this exhibit, Mr. Moss commissioned the construction of a representation of the Montgomery, Alabama, city bus made famous by Rosa Parks and the ensuing bus boycott by African American citizens of that city. This project was made possible in part by a grant from The Creative Work Fund, a program of the Walter and Elise Haas Fund supported by generous grants from the William and Flora Hewlett Foundation and The James Irvine Foundation. Funds were also provided by the Friends of the Oakland Public Library. AAMLO, located at 659 14th Street, is open from Noon to 5:30 p.m., Tuesdays to Saturdays.
