Temporary Roadway Work Zone Anticipated Traffic Delays on San Leandro Street

Oakland, CA – The City of Oakland will temporarily close two of the four travel lanes on San Leandro Street at 47th Avenue, one in each direction, for two days to allow for much needed roadway improvement work. Two-way traffic will be maintained on San Leandro Street at all times, however traffic delays are anticipated during construction hours (7:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m.) for both Thursday, March 15, 2012 and Friday, March 16, 2012.

Traffic Delay on San Leandro Street
Starting: Thursday, March 15, 2012
Ending: Friday, March 16, 2012

Posted alternate routes will be on Highway 880 and International Boulevard via 66th Avenue or High Street. Residents and businesses will receive notice of the construction also, even though all businesses will maintain street access, there may be additional traffic congestion during the construction period.

The City is working with Union Pacific Railroad to rehabilitate railroad tracks and roadway pavement between the tracks crossing San Leandro Street at 47th Avenue. The work is not only necessary for railroad operations, but for the safe and convenient travel of vehicles.
