Sustainable Living Tips and Demos Oakland EarthEXPO on Wednesday, April 8

Oakland, CA – The 20th annual environmental sustainability fair Oakland EarthEXPO is an opportunity to get in-person information and resources on sustainable products and practices from over 80 sustainable businesses, non-profits and environmental and community leaders! On Wednesday, April 8th from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in Frank H. Ogawa Plaza, a projected 2,000 people will attend Oakland EarthEXPO and learn about all things sustainable: water conservation, waste reduction, recycling, energy conservation, alternative transportation and housing, volunteerism, urban nature and more! The goal is for Oakland EarthEXPO attendees to leave with information and resources for sustainable living.

“EarthEXPO offers an easy way for downtown residents and workers to learn about and share sustainability tips and environmental know-how,” says Becky Dowdakin, Environmental Services Manager. “Come enjoy a delicious lunch from one of the sustainable food vendors, take part in energy and solar assessments, check out an electric vehicle, get a free bike route map, learn about socially responsible investing, community planning, job training, arts and crafts, recycling and composting, outdoor recreation, nature and more!”

Many exhibitors will also offer tips and support for springing into environmental action through volunteerism. Opportunities to clean, green and beautify Oakland will be offered by organizations such as Keep Oakland Beautiful, East Bay Regional Park District, Golden Gate Audubon Society, Lake Merritt Institute and Oakland Public Works, which runs Oakland Adopt a Spot.
